

Planning Clinics

Family planning services in the five-county area are rapidly expanding, due in part to the increased coordination through centralizing administration in Somerset. If the present growth trend continues, there should be 1,000 new patients this year, 500 more than the previous year.

Now, more than ever, with the rapidly expanding family planning clinics, individuals and community volunteer groups should make every effort to see that these services are fully utilized.

All-Ky. City Awards Luncheon Is Set For February 9

Lt. Gov. Julian M. Carroll will join Kentucky Chamber of Commerce President W.H. Neal at Lexington February 9 in presentation of the annual "All-Kentucky City" awards. The presentation luncheon will be at the Phoenix Hotel.

A large crowd is expected to attend the annual event sponsored by the Kentucky Chamber's "All-Kentucky City" project committee. Twenty-six Kentucky communities were entered in the final judging by virtue of placing high in district judging.

A total of 70 cities filed final reports in the 19th annual "Opportunity for Progress" program.

Each "All-Kentucky City" presentation will include a slide narrative highlighting the community's development activities in 1971, according to Paul McCandless, Louisville, vice president of South Central Bell and chairman of the State Chamber's Total Community Development Council. Dan Stewart, Lexington, Kentucky Utilities Company, is chairman of the "All-Kentucky City" Project Committee of the Community Development Council.

The luncheon will be in the hotel's convention hall at 12:00 noon.

DANVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A leading woman educator has praised the women's liberation movement, saying that the movement can change the face of American education if more women are hired, promoted and given decision-making positions.

Anne Gary Taylor, president of Sweet Briar College in Virginia for 21 years, told a Founders' Day convocation at Centre College that the movement can bring about the freeing "of the last minority ...from economic and social and political discrimination."

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Fayette County Jailer John Luby has resigned from the post he has held for 14 years, effective at noon today.

The jail has been the subject of inquiry of several Fayette Circuit Court grand juries.

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Five inmates on death row at the Kentucky State Penitentiary at Eddyville returned voluntarily to the cells after a prison employe found them roaming the corridor.

William Morris, reporting early for work Monday evening, said he found that bars had been sawed from two cell doors, but he was unable to locate the instrument used.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A Louisville man and his former wife have been sentenced to five years imprisonment after they were found guilty of using interstate communications and transportation to promote prostitution.

U.S. Judge Rhodes Bratcher sentenced the couple after a jury of four women and eight men returned the verdict against Melvin Lee Arterburn, 30, and Joyce Gail Arterburn, 24.

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Thousands of grieving Irish gathered in this somber, silent city today to honor the 13 civilian dead of Londonderry's bloody Sunday. It was a day of bitter mourning for Roman Catholics throughout divided Ireland.

Threats of fresh violence prompted tight security in London, Dublin and in the embattled communities of British-ruled Northern Ireland. A British army sentry was killed in Belfast Tuesday night.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighterbombers carried out a second day of heavy attacks inside North Vietnam, and a sharp upsurge in fighting was reported in the southern half of South Vietnam, military spokesmen said today.

The Saigon command claimed 129 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed in two ground actions. In the air war, the U.S. Command reported five new "protective reaction" strikes Tuesday making a record total of seven in one day.

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — The 11th Winter Olympics, rocked by the expulsion of Austrian ski star Karl Schranz, opens Thursday with a 21-gun salute for Emperor Hirohito and all the traditional pomp and ceremony of the competitors' march into the arena.

Principal speakers will be Fifth District Congressman Tim Lee Carter, who is seeking re-election this year, and James Host, GOP candidate for lieutenant governor last fall. Host is now president of a Lexington public relations firm, Jim Host and Associates.

Republican Party leaders from throughout the state are being invited to attend.

Committee appointments to plan for the banquet were made during the meeting. The

House Bill Grants Raise

Swinford, who introduced HB111 for Ford pointed out that it only was permissive. Many agency heads are not at the present maximum of $20,000, he said, adding that many would not move up to $27,500 either.

Prior to passing the bill, the House approved an amendment offered by Rep. Fred Morgan, D-Paducah, to raise the salaries of the state's constitutional officers as well, retroactive to last month.

The governor's salary would be raised from $30,000 to $35,000, effective in 1975, under the bill, but the pay of the eight other statewide elective officers would be raised to $22,500 as of January.

Affected would be the lieutenant governor, attorney general and superintendent of public instruction, all of whom now get $20,000, and five who now get $18,000: the commissioner of agriculture, secretary of state, state treasurer, auditor and clerk of the court of appeals.

The three consumer protection bills passed by the House and sent to the Senate were:

—HB176, Giving buyers up to three days to cancel any contract for unsolicited goods signed in their home, approved on a 92-1 vote.

—HB175, Giving consumers up to three months to complain of faulty merchandise in cases in which their credit agreement with the store subsequently was bought up by a finance company; the faulty merchandise then could be used as a defense for holding up payment on the goods. The bill was passed 72-12 after some members said it could merely result in the buyer's having to go directly to the loan company.

—HB174, Removing the incentive for "balloon payments" by requiring that any credit payment which is more than twice as large as the average previous payments could be refinanced at the original interest rate. The bill was approved 95-0.

Other bills similarly approved and sent to the Senate were:

—HB95, requiring an owner of a motor vehicle to show he has paid his property tax on it for the previous year before he can buy license plates for it, passed 86-3.

—HB114, allowing anyone who holds a mortgage on property to take possession of the property if the borrower defaults on his payments and abandons the property, passed 93-1.
